Dear Rishi,

On behalf of the faculty of Baylor College of Medicine, I am pleased to inform you that you have been accepted for admission to our next medical school class beginning July 27, 2009.

The Admissions Committee at Baylor has expressed confidence that your personal attributes and past accomplishments strongly indicate your potential for success in medicine. Although I did not have a chance to meet with you individually, I have read your entire Admissions file. I support the Committee's belief and I am personally convinced that you possess a commitment to academic excellence and humanitarian service that is required of all who practice medicine.

You demonstrate the essential qualities necessary to establish a strong foundation in medicine. Moreover, your life experiences are invaluable. The lessons learned from each experience work together to play a significant role in shaping an attentive and dedicated physician. Your sincere heart for people accompanied by your commitment to personally serve each and every patient with only the very best of care available at one of the most vulnerable times in their lives will, without a doubt, make a difference in all the precious lives entrusted to your care. You will become an outstanding physician and role model leaving a lasting impact on the community and world around you.

I hope you will accept our invitation to join the Baylor family. I want you to know that during your decision making process I am available to discuss with you any aspect of life at Baylor and its educational programs. Also, after enrollment, my door is always open to discuss your educational experience or your future plans. I look forward to working with you over the next four years to make your time in medical school challenging, interesting, stimulating and most of all - fun.

Sincerely,

Stephen B. Greenberg, MD
